First Load Of Trees

State Forester Warren Taylor (above) has the first load of loblolly pine ready for appomattox landowners. Each wrapped bundle on the truck has 1,000 seedlings and landowners, through cost-sharing plans can purchase 1,000 for a little as $3.25 more than enough to plant an acre to trees. At 800 trees per acre, explains Taylor, the seedlings are now worth about $5.00 Total weight is about 25 pounds. At the age of 25 years these seedlings will have grown to a total of 200,000 pounds or more of useable wood. The original $5.00 worth of seedlings will be worth $700 or more when sold at the woodyard. Appomattox county landowners will plant about 800,000 seedlings within the next two months, says Taylor. Anyone interested in conservation, good land use AND making money is invited to call him at the Va. Division of Forestry office, 352-7279.

Dr. Tommy Lea, pastor of Liberty Baptist Church, Mrs. Lea ("Beverly") and family, Marcie, three; Lisa, five years old and Cliff, almost two, made good use of a warm Monday afternoon to admire Lisa's skill on a tire swing. Each daughter has her favorite "Barbie" doll but Cliff would much rather be in the sandbox. The Leas came to Appomattox in August of 1968 and have made numerous friends during their stay here. Dr. Lea has accepted a call to Hunter Street Baptist Church, Birmingham, Alabama.

Dr. Lea Accepts New Pastorate

Dr. Thomas D. Lea ("Tommy"), pastor of Liberty Baptist Church for the past three and one-half years, has announced his resignation from the local church and a call to serve as pastor of the Hunter Street Baptist Church in Birmingham, Alabama. Dr. Lea's last service here will be held on Sunday, February 13.

Dr. Lea says, "It is with much regret and sadness that we leave what has been a thrilling opportunity in Appomattox, but we do feel the Lord's leadership in the steps that are being taken."

The church to which he has been called is one of Alabama's strongest churches with something over 3,000 members and a full church staff. The church also has a television ministry on local Channel 42 on Sunday mornings. Last year there was an average of around 850 in Sunday School. The Hunter Street Church also cares for some 80 children daily in kindergarten classes and a day care center.

The Leas' new address will be 2755 20th Place, West, Birmingham, Alabama 35208.

During his stay here Dr. Lea has been a guiding hand behind an active visitation program conducted by laymen of the church. A kindergarten is serving small children of the church and community and an active young peoples' program includes a "coffee house", summer recreation program and summer camping.

During his stay here, the church debt at Liberty has been reduced by approximately $80,000.

Liberty Baptist Church serves the community, also, in various programs including the Good News Ministry, a telephone service. Liberty Baptist is headquarters for the Crisis Corner, a community enterprise which oversees collection and dispersal of clothing and household goods. In addition, Girl Scouts meet regularly at the church, and numerous group Baptist meetings are held there to benefit from the large size meeting rooms and other facilities.

Dr. Lea came to Appomattox from the Cliff Temple Baptist Church, Dallas, Texas where he served two years as assistant pastor, his first full-time pastorate.

Dr. Lea is a graduate of Mississippi State University with a B. S. in electrical engineering; Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary with a bachelor of divinity degree followed by the conferring of the Doctor of Theology degree also from Southwestern Seminary in 1967.

Dr. Lea says that the Cliff Temple church newspaper had a

Rat-O-Gram Community Clean-Up

Although each of us as individuals can do much to eliminate the rat problem, it will take the collective effort of groups of individuals to eliminate the remaining food and shelter for rats. In this phase of rodent control, an organization such as 4-H, scouts, civic and social organizations can do much to eliminate the rodent problem. Clean up efforts directed at public areas or areas where individual effort would not be effective are necessary for total elimination. In many communities where rats have been a problem, youngsters have often formed rat patrols which roam the neighborhoods looking for accumulations of rubbish and with cooperation of municipalities, clean up these rat havens, or call the problem to the attention of landowners who may not be aware of the situation, and do what ever else can be done to eliminate the food and shelter that these rats cause. Quite often we tend to neglect this phase of rat control by saying that that is someone else's problem, or the town should do it, but oftentimes, the only way to solve problems such as this is for concerned groups of individuals in the community to take the direct action needed to eliminate the problem. For information about what your organization can do to assist in elimination of rodent control problem in Appomattox County, contact the Rat Control Program coordinator, James Smith, Extension Agent for Appomattox County.

Mothers March Sun. To Help Children

College man? Not quite yet! Eddie Lewis (left) is 3 and one-half years old and has worn glasses for some time now. Sister Tammy, one and one-half years old, looks over to see what the booklet is about -- it's "Growth Failure and Your Child!" and explains that Eddie is a victim of hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) and a growth problem affecting the pituitary gland. Mothers March chairman, Ann Robinson (above) says that people everywhere can help Eddie and children like him in many ways: by donating to the Mothers March and by signing a donor card (see accompanying story) so that pituitary glands will be available to help children grow to normal size. Eddie weighs 18 pounds; his sister, nearly two years younger, weighs 22 pounds.

$1,000 Sought In Drive

Mothers will march on Sunday January 30, to raise funds to help children with birth defects.

Appomattox county will have a corps of volunteers from the Junior Woman's Club, armed with educational literature and donation envelopes traveling streets and roads in search of funds for additional help for children and adults suffering the effects of birth defects.

Annual March of Dimes chairman is Mrs. R. Donald Robinson (Ann). County campaign chairman is Lt. L. E. Hedrick and county chairman to oversee year-round goals is H.W. (Billy) Conner.

Campaign goal is $1,000. Representative of the type of help the March of Dimes supplies to youngsters nationwide is Eddie Lewis of Appomattox, born May 23, 1968 (see accompanying photo), Eddie the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lewis, is a victim of hypopituitarism.

Eddie's pituitary gland does not produce enough human growth hormone to promote proper growth. As a result Eddie is very small for his age. He has received Human Growth Hormone (HGH) in shot form, every other day for the past ten months.

In Eddie's case, this experimental drug has been most rewarding.

In Eddie's first 34 months of life he gained five pounds. He weighed 12 pounds at the age of 3 years. In March 1971 Eddie started receiving HGH. Since then, he has gained five pounds and grown 4 inches in height. He now weighs 18 pounds and stands 33 inches.

This is a remarkable growth rate for little Eddie, however, he is approaching his fourth birthday (May 23rd) and his bone age is that of a two year old.

Growing is very important to Eddie and to many more children with growth disturbances. Their growth depends on individual donors. Their growth depends on pituitary hormone donated at death. These few children who receive HGH have an injection every other day of the growth drug. To grow to normal size it would take 1,500 injections. That would require pituitary glands from 600 deceased persons. (Ten years of shots in order to grow) Unfortunately there is a very limited number of pituitary glands available for such injections needed for these children to grow.

Eddie's first year supply of HGH runs out in March 1972. There is question as to whether he will receive another's years' supply or will another child benefit more. There is no question that Eddie needs HGH to grow.

Donor cards are available for persons interested in donating, at death, their pituitary glands, in the hope that other youngsters similarly affected with hypopituitarism can be helped.

March of Dimes funds help in research and treatment of children with birth defects and in research and treatment of a widespread ailment, arthritis.

The Junior Woman's Club members are hopeful that residents everywhere will remember Eddie Lewis and other youngsters who need treatment and help in order to live normal lives. For the oldsters, afflicted with arthritis, it may be some comfort to know that March of Dimes funds are helping to fight this affliction, also.

The March of Dimes organization has additional material available about children with birth defects. In addition, Human Growth, Inc. - Mid-Atlantic States Chapter, has pamphlets and other information. James E. Robinson, Jr. is president, P. O. Box 271, Fries, Va. 24330.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lewis, parents of little Eddie, have

Annual Report Given Tuesday

Bank Assets Pass $12 Million Mark

Shareholders of Farmers National Bank were told Tuesday at the annual meeting in Appomattox that total assets of the bank increased $894,886 during the year and that the bank passed the 12 million mark for the first time on Nov. 16, 1971.

Farmers National has completed a full year under the direction of the new president, A. R. Harwood, Jr. Mr. Harwood was elected to succeed Mr. P. L. Mr Murphy continued as a director of the bank until August 10, 1971, when he announced full retirement from the bank.

At the December board meeting, James A. Smith was elected a director to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Mr. P. L. Murphy. At the board meeting on January 11, 1972, James J. Pugh, Jr. was elected a director to fill the vacancy caused by the withdrawal of Judge George F. Abbitt, Jr.
